DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed December 09, 2003 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), even though the documents cited thereon have been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Billado Jr. (Publication no. US 2004/0238399 A1). An apparatus is disclosed in as much as is claimed where the shallow end of pan has a depth greater than the diameter of the handle since the handle 15 is shown as mounted in figure 1 below flange 39. By virtue of flat portion 49 that covers a substantial portion of the cover 12, the lid is considered substantially flat. The second lip-forming trough 61 seals the pan in a virtually airtight, liquid tight manner, see the abstract, paragraph [0007].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Florentino (Patent no. 4,541,542) in view of Malvasio (Patent no. 5,273,160). Florentino discloses an apparatus where the difference between the claimed subject matter is that the shallow end of pan has a depth greater less than the diameter of the paint roller handle see figure 1.

Malvasio discloses an airtight storage container were a tray 10 is constructed of a depth so that a substantially flat lid may enclose the paint roller and handle. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the apparatus of Florentino by constructing the shallow end of the pan of a depth greater than the paint roller handle as suggest by Malvasio, in order to fit the entire contents within the confines of the pan.

It would have also been obvious to construct the pan of the depth recited, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955). Also, it has been held that where the only difference between the prior art device and the claimed device was a recitation of relative dimensions, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device, Gardner v. TED Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. Denied, 469 U.S. 830, 2325 USPQ 232 (1984), see M.P.E.P. § 2144.04 IV.

As to claim 5 to employ soft rubber is a well-known closure material as demonstrated by the art of record, and would have been a matter of design choice.

Art Unit: 3728

Claims are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Florentino and Malvasio as applied to claim 6 above, and further in view of Kyllonen (Patent no. 5,316,137). The difference between the invention of claims 7 and 8; and the prior art resides in a flange upwardly concave. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the paint pan by constructing a flange upwardly concave as taught by Kyllonen figure 1, #16, in order to retain the paint handle.

As to claim 9, it is not seen where the functional language distinguishes over the prior art.

REPLY BY APPLICANT OR PATENT OWNER TO THIS OFFICE ACTION

6. “In order to be entitled to reconsideration or further examination, the applicant or patent owner must reply to every ground of objection and rejection in this Office action. The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. The applicant’s or patent owner’s reply must appear throughout to be a bona fide attempt to advance the application or the reexamination proceeding to final action. A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section. The reply must be reduced to writing (emphasis added)”, see 37 CFR 1.111 (b) & (c), M.P.E.P. 714.02.

Pointing out specific distinctions means clearly indicating in the written response what features/elements or distinctions have been added to the claim/claims, where support is found in the specification for such recitations and how these features are not shown, taught, obvious or inherent in the prior art.

If no amendments are made to claims as applicant or patent owner believes the claims are patentable without further modification, the reply must distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the examiner's action and must respond to every ground of objection and rejection in the prior Office Action in the same vain as given above, 37 CFR 1.111 (b) & (c), M.P.E.P. 714.02.

The examiner also points out, due to the change in practice as affecting final rejections, older decisions on questions of prematureness of final rejection or admission of subsequent amendments do not necessarily reflect present practice. "Under present practice, second or any subsequent actions on the merits shall be final, except where the examiner introduces a new ground of rejection that is neither necessitated by applicant's amendment of the claims nor based on information submitted in an information disclosure statement filed during the period set forth in 37 CFR 1.97(c)" (emphasis mine), see MPEP 706.07(a).

Conclusion

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to David T. Fidei whose telephone number is (571) 272-4553. If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Mickey Yu can be reached on (571) 272-4562.
